

LOTTIE

@LOTSTAR

Lottie was raised in Southern California. From an early age, she displayed a strong creative flair for art and self-expression.

Upon completing an education in graphic design, she moved to London, England and quickly found work on a number of cutting edge projects. Breaking away from design a few years later, Lottie moved into what she'd consider her true calling.

The world of makeup was a simple transition, based upon her strong understanding of light, color, and form. Combined with precise application and attention to detail, Lottie's flawless results got her noticed.

Lottie has since keyed fashion shows in New York, Milan, Miami and Los Angeles and continues to freelance for print and advertising worldwide. In 2016, Lottie collaborated with Limelight by Alcone creating her own limited edition collection.
